REKINDLED LOVE BY LARS BJERREGAARD JESSEN

PUBLISHED
THE 20TH OF APRIL
2023

One evening on the beach, Anders is sitting with binoculars, watching his son, Thor, who is diving and spearing fish in the sea with his two friends. Meanwhile, Anders' thoughts are taken back to his childhood sweetheart Cecilie, whom he can't get out of his head, and his inner journey begins. But at the same time, a potential danger is lurking out on the water ...

Thoughts of Cecilie take him far and wide in the many spaces of his mind, including on a train trip around the world. As Anders remembers his past, he learns about love and life's many detours. The question is, how will it end with him and Cecilie? And what will happen to his son and his friends out on the water?

Rekindled Love is a novel about great infatuation, love, and how love acts as a driving force in life. It is also a travelogue and a story about unrequited love, loneliness, and stumbling and finding your way, despite all the obstacles encountered in life.

Lars Bjerregaard Jessen holds a Master of Science (MSc) in Business, Language and Culture as well as an MBA. He is a former communications manager at a large private company and now teaches higher education. Rekindled Love is Lars' debut in English.
